GOLF CART eVEHICLE

Given the nature of the domestic and international airline industry, airports are perpetually busy. Staff and customers move themselves and all kinds of items from point A to point B—often frantically. Golf carts can help alleviate stress and keep things running smoothly.

Airport management can use golf carts to:

- Move cargo and luggage
- Assist people with disabilities
- Transport ground crew across long distances quickly
- Get airline staff to their boarding gates
- Help shop staff pick up product deliveries
- Aid restocks for airline business lounges

For transporting people, opt for larger shuttle-style golf carts which can accommodate dozens of people at a time.

For people with small warehouses, they can consider using golf carts instead of forklifts. Workers can use these carts to move quickly between shelves and even different warehouse buildings as they restock items or pull products for shipping.

As a bonus, no special licenses are necessary!

Because golf carts are smaller, lighter, and more agile than a hefty forklift or other heavy transport machinery, they can help reduce dangerous incidents.
